FCE DESCRIPTION

The course is designed to introduce the student to an aspect of clinical infectious diseases in which the student has an interest. The emphasis of the attending will be to stress the fundamentals of the patient-physician encounter and the development of a working diagnosis and management plan. This will not be the place to brush up on ID topics. A general knowledge base will be expected and the encounters geared to embody concepts with substance. Detailed knowledge of ID issues is not expected, but an interest in being a superb clinician is expected.

FCE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- recognize the importance of patient centered care and how this is manifested in medical practice
- understand the role of the assessment in the development of a care plan, and the communication of the care plan
- develop expertise with patient presentations

UMMS Competencies	Professional   Problem Solver   Advocate
Evaluation Type	Attendance   Effort   Participation

Evaluation Criteria	Clinical Skills   Case Presentation
---------------------	-------------------------------------

The student will present a patient (consult or office visit note) at the beginning and end of the rotation. The remainder of the experience will be in face to face time with the attending and interacting with patients. Interest and enthusiasm will influence the evaluation of the student as will the patient presentations

Prerequisite(s)	An interest in patient care is critical, an interest in infectious diseases is optimal, an interest in coffee is suitable.
